VIII. Announcements

IX. Adjournment
Minutes of the Faculty Senate meeting of 23rd April, 2018.

UPDATES

A. Ken Harmon, Interim President

He was part of a hearing on free expression and student affairs under the Gold Dome. The hearing was videoed and is on the web. Consultants are on campus ensuring that KSU treats all events and student organizations, the same and that faculty understand due process. Private conversations held afterward were fine.

USG had just given KSU the budget figures allocations for 2018/9. At first glance, it looks like what he expected. Online incentive pay is definitely going away. He told departments to expect no increases. The CAR investigation should help find places to economize, as KSU needs more instructors.

KSU is implementing the fixed seat model with application deposits, and earlier due dates. This should help to reduce the growth rate in student numbers.

KSU is looking at what to do about QM, space allocation, and teaching schedules. KSU is using classrooms at 54% capacity.

B. Linda Noble, Interim Provost & VPPA

KSU will not terminate the CSH program. She is meeting with the CSH faculty to look at improving the curriculum. Coles will be offering a BBA with a hospitality emphasis. CSH will serve CSH majors first due to faculty limitations. This is not a permanent situation.

KSU is looking at the graduate curriculum approval process. She will be visiting colleges.

She will consult with CFCs when appointing interim deans.

C. Ron Matson, Sr Assoc. VP for Academic Affairs

KSU will replace DM software for student evaluations with Xplorance Blue on 1st July. So Summer I and Maymester classes will use DM; the rest of summer classes will use Explorance Blue. KSU will remain with DM for Activity Insight for the next two years. He will start a new committee to look at DM replacement in Dec 18 or Jan 19.

D. Meihua Zhai, Assist. VP of Institutional Research (Faculty Salary Study & Academic Master Plan)

She presented a PowerPoint on KSU’s academic master plan process. KSU needs measures to find out about low productivity programs. She will collect student data by program, with dual majors split. KSU bases faculty data on departments. These measures may change later.KSU will look at benchmarks later.
KSU is trying to use standard information. KSU will examine special information like joint faculty and multi-disciplinary programs later.

She was going to present the Faculty Salary Study when a motion from the floor pointed out the little time remaining and the senate decided to skip some informational items.

E. Danielle S. Buehrer, Interim VP for Institutional Effectiveness (Reaffirmation)

She presented change to KSU’s residency requirements from 30 hours to 25% of total hours. SACSOC require this standard change as KSU has programs requiring up to 150 hours. E0core and e-major count as KSU courses; some consortium course do not count. She agreed to ad old wording of need for 21 hours of upper division course. Faculty were unhappy deciding on this without feedback from their departments. She pointed out the urgency as SACVSSOC process started in September and KSU would be in non-compliance if no change made. The senate passed this change on first reading (15 to3), with a second reading in May or virtually.

OLD BUSINESS

F. Emeritus Status, Barbara Wood

She asked for a second reading allowing non-tenure track people have emeritus status. The senate passed the motion unanimously.

G. Approval of March Minutes

Senate approved minute 28 to 0.

H. Faculty Senate Elections, AY 2018-19, Joya Hicks & Jennifer Purcell

Elections results were as follows:

Vice-President/President-Elect - Dr. Jeanne Bohannon
Secretary - Dr. Heather Pincock
Marietta Campus Representative - Dr. David Stollberg
Kennesaw Campus Representative - Dr. Humayun Zafar
Staff Council Liaison - Dr. Cristen Dutcher
SGA Liaison - VACANT
PT Faculty Council Liaison - Dr. Joanne Lee
Policy Process Council Liaison - Dr. Douglas Moodie
CDA Liaison - Dr. Jeanne Bohannon
Dean's Council Liaison - Dr. Joya Hicks

I. BOR Request, Pay Raise, Ken White

"Resolved, because the employees of Kennesaw State University are the ones responsible for the education and graduation progression of KSU's students, and because competitive employee pay is necessary to attract and retain quality educators, the Faculty Senate of Kennesaw State University hereby calls on the Board of Regents to advocate for pay raises in its next fiscal budget for the university campuses"
The Senate passed this motion unanimously.

NEW BUSINESS

J. Faculty and Staff Evaluation of Administrators, Andrew Pieper, FSEA Faculty Coordinator

He presented an outline of changes to FSEA. CHSS faculty pointed out that the 2, 5, 8 spacing would make it difficult to use these for chair review, as their chairs were on 5 year contracts. They want 2, 4, 6, spacing. The plan is for shorter reviews that faculty can do quicker. Senate passed this proposal 28 to 0. He will take back this recommendation to committee.

Faculty Overload Pay

Office of the Provost and VPAA

Tue 6/26/2018 4:21 PM

to: facultynotify <facultynotify@kennesaw.edu>; staffnotify <staffnotify@kennesaw.edu>

Colleagues:

As you know, at the end of the spring semester, I requested that KSU’s audit team conduct a thorough review of institutional practices related to extra compensation for faculty. The audit was based on the University’s need to ensure that we comply with Board of Regents policy on overload pay. As I noted in my May message to campus, over the years, it has become routine for faculty to receive overload pay for activities that typically fall within normal faculty responsibilities.

Preliminary results of the audit show that KSU spent an average of $3.34 million on overload pay in FY16 and FY17, broken out as follows:

- In FY16 and FY17, approximately $1.8 million was used to pay faculty teaching a Quality Matters-approved online course, an additional $50 (above their regular salary) per student enrolled.
- The remaining funds (about $2.34 million per year) were used to pay faculty overload to engage in activities that are typically considered part of the normal workload of faculty (e.g., developing online courses, serving as a peer reviewer for Quality Matters, serving on committees, chairing thesis/dissertation committees, guest lecturing, advising and mentoring students, grant writing, etc.).

The overload pay audit did not include administrative stipends (e.g., the stipend paid to a 12-month department chair that is in addition to their faculty 10-month base salary). These types of stipends are documented in annual faculty and administrative contracts and are not impacted by this audit.

Based on the audit, effective July 1, 2018, the $50 per student overload pay for Quality Matters-approved online courses will no longer be allowed, and overload pay will no longer be approved for those duties that should be part of normal faculty responsibilities. The July 1 effective date does not include courses offered during the 2018 summer terms.

I have asked deans and chairs to work with faculty to make the necessary adjustments in annual faculty workload expectations to incorporate the types of responsibilities that have previously been paid as overload. We want to avoid faculty members with full workloads from being assigned additional activities; therefore, responsibilities will need to be prioritized.

My office will be distributing additional documentation and guidelines for the review of overload pay requests for the coming fiscal year. Typically, only requests that will be considered for overload pay in FY19 and beyond will be requests to pay overload for temporary, extra teaching assignments. On rare occasions, other responsibilities may be considered for temporary duties that are strategic to the University or based on critical student needs.

Please feel free to contact Ron Matson if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Linda Noble

The Phish Market

The Office of Cybersecurity’s new Phish Market catalogs known phishing attempts and other malicious emails targeting students, faculty, and staff. You can browse the site for identified phishing messages or submit suspicious emails to assist other KSU community members

Visit the Phish Market at phishmarket.kennesaw.edu

Document Management

The university offers multiple solutions for storing, accessing, and sharing data. Not every solution is appropriate for storing certain types of data; to help guide you through this process, we have created a matrix comparing the document management solutions available at KSU and the types of data that can safely be stored in each

Find this comparison matrix and more information at uits.kennesaw.edu/document-management

KSUmail Full Name Alias

In addition to the standard NetID@kennesaw.edu email address, faculty and staff can now receive emails at FirstName.LastName@kennesaw.edu. This feature provides an easy-to-remember, aesthetically pleasing option for sending emails to KSU faculty and staff.

Visit uits.kennesaw.edu/ksumail to learn more about email and find FAQs regarding full name email aliases.

Technology Training

UITS offers multiple options to provide the technology training you need at your convenience. Each semester, regularly scheduled hands-on technology workshops are available for faculty and staff. You can also receive one-on-one training by appointment and group training for your class or your office. Thousands of self-paced, online training books and module are available through OwlTrain for many technologies and professional development programs.

Annual Information Security Training

Each year, UITS provides the campus with Information Security Training through OwlTrain. The University System of Georgia mandates all employees to successfully complete information security training annually.

You can access the 11-minute training module at owltrain.kennesaw.edu

KSU Status Page

The KSU Status Page provides up-to-date service information about the status of and upcoming maintenance for Kennesaw State University IT systems and services.

Visit status.kennesaw.edu to check the status of KSU applications and to sign-up for service notifications.

KSU VPN

This summer, UITS launched a new virtual private network service: KSU VPN. KSU VPN replaces Hallpass, the University’s legacy VPN solution; Hallpass will remain available until the service is decommissioned on Sept. 5, 2018. KSU VPN features an easy-to-use downloadable client, eliminating the Java issues currently experienced with Hallpass.

What is NCUR?

- Undergraduates present their scholarship as posters, oral presentations, performances, and visual arts displays over a 2.5-day period.
- There is a competitive bid process to decide the host institution each year; Kennesaw State University won the bid to host in 2019. This marks the first time the conference will be held in Georgia in its 33-year history.
- For more information, visit http://www.cur.org/conferences_and_events/student_events/ncur/

What can we expect at NCUR?

- The 2017 schedule-at-a-glance is fairly typical: http://www.memphis.edu/honors/pdfs/ncur2017schedule1.pdf
- Student sessions include posters, oral presentations (15 min each, 5 additional min for questions, grouped by discipline), visual arts displays, and performances. Workshops for students are sometimes included (e.g., resume writing, applying to grad school). There is always a grad/professional school fair.
- FAN (Faculty-Administrator Network) sessions are designed for faculty and administrators (you can view the 2016 schedule here: http://www.cur.org/assets/1/23/FAN_Program_Book.pdf). They are usually held over breakfast or lunch so as not to conflict with student presentations.
- There are three plenary speakers (one per day; they can be faculty members, community leaders, celebrities, etc.).
- There is a “Big Event” on Friday evening and typically a smaller event/activity on Thursday evening.
- There are optional excursions starting Saturday afternoon though the evening (extra costs for attendees).

Background on NCUR

- NCUR is one of the largest national conferences on undergraduate research in the country, with over 4,000 attendees from colleges and universities across the U.S.
- It is estimated (based on data from previous host sites) that the economic impact of the conference for the surrounding area will be $2.1 to $2.5 million dollars. Host institutions typically see revenue between $100,000 and $300,000.
- In 2017 (at the University of Memphis):
  - Nearly 400 institutions
  - 47 U.S. states (very small international presence – typically 4-5 other countries)
  - 4,139 attendees
Over 4,000 abstracts submitted (~88% acceptance rate)

- Nearly 90% of attendees are undergraduate researchers, with the rest being faculty, staff, and administrators.
- NCUR is multidisciplinary, with representation from virtually every major. The largest disciplines tend to be in STEM fields (particularly chemistry and biology) and psychology. In 2017, nearly 100 fields and subfields were represented in the presentations.
- NCUR maintains a database where individuals can search for disciplines, institutions, and keywords (overall or by year): http://www.cur.org/conferences_and_events/student_events/ncur/archive/

NCUR 2019 at Kennesaw State University

- We expect a larger conference than past host institutions (e.g., ease of getting to Atlanta, cultural attractions, weather).
- At least 700 volunteers (faculty, staff, students, administrators) will be needed (for example, moderating oral presentation sessions, staffing the registration tables, helping lost attendees find buildings, etc.).
- Faculty from the host institution are responsible for reviewing abstracts. If a host institution doesn’t have enough faculty to review or doesn’t have faculty in certain disciplines, they can request help through the Council on Undergraduate Research or can ask faculty within the area at other institutions.
- The conference is intentionally not during Spring Break. One of the benefits of hosting this conference is that our students will get the opportunity to be exposed to undergraduate research on a national level. That’s less likely to happen during a school holiday.
- Classes will be redirected to the conference Thursday through Saturday:
  - We would like our students to be able to present, volunteer, and attend sessions.
  - Faculty are encouraged to create assignments where students attend sessions in their discipline and write reflections about the experience.
  - Faculty are needed to moderate oral presentation sessions.
  - A conference of this size is going to take over much of the campus space; it isn’t possible to also hold classes.
- Departments that would like to recruit NCUR attendees to come to KSU and/or just want to show off are encouraged to have open houses (Thursday April 11, 2019 around 4pm). Although the conference will be held on the Kennesaw campus, we can shuttle students to the Marietta campus for open houses.

How can faculty pitch in?

- You can mentor undergraduate research/creative activity in the next year so students will be ready to present at NCUR 2019.
- You can encourage students in your department to get involved in undergraduate research projects during the next year and to volunteer at the conference.
- You can review abstracts in December/January 2018 and to moderate oral presentations at the conference.
- You can plan an open house for your department.
• You can send feedback/ideas you have about the conference to the Office of Undergraduate Research (our@kennesaw.edu).
• You can spread the word about NCUR 2019 (e.g., within your College, within your professional networks).
• You can join a planning committee.

1. Policy Purpose Statement

The Kennesaw State University (KSU or the University) Motor Vehicle Operator Policy ensures that all employees who drive vehicles on behalf of KSU have the appropriate documentation of a license to drive and operate the vehicle. The policy requires appropriate training based on the nature of the driving requirements associated with the employee’s position.

2. Background

This policy governs the use of KSU-owned or -leased vehicles and personal vehicles when used for transporting employees, students, or guests by authorized KSU vehicle operators.

KSU employees may have work assignments that involve driving a vehicle to accomplish University business. To promote a safe work environment and reduce the number of motor vehicle accidents that occur on the job, KSU has established this Motor Vehicle Operator Policy, which sets driving qualification standards for KSU drivers and requires training and other appropriate action for employees who fall outside those standards.

The state of Georgia Department of Administrative Services (DOAS) sets forth requirements for all state agencies to follow regarding driver qualification programs. These requirements are outlined by DOAS as part of the Comprehensive Loss Control Program (CLCP) authorized under Senate Bill 425.

3. Scope (Who is Affected)

This policy applies to all KSU employees and KSU-qualified volunteers who operate a vehicle on University business, regardless of frequency of driving and ownership of the vehicle.

4. Exclusions or Exceptions

4.1 The only exclusions or exceptions are:

4.1.1 KSU employees who do not possess a valid driver’s license;
4.1.2 KSU employees who will never operate a vehicle for University business of any kind due to license restrictions or other restrictions as approved by Risk Management and/or Human Resources.

Presidents
University System of Georgia sent via email

Dear Presidents:

The purpose of this letter is to inform you of revisions made to Board Policy 8.2.18.2 Conflicts of Interest and Conflicts of Commitment at Tuesday’s meeting of the Board of Regents (BOR) of the University System of Georgia (USG).

Awareness of and compliance with this policy is important to our efforts to maintain an ethical culture. One incident of ethical violations is too many, and at too many campuses recently we have had multiple incidents due to lax management and deliberate acts. I expect you as president to model the appropriate behavior regarding ethical management and to hold all members of your campus to the highest standards of ethical conduct. Deliberate violations should be sanctioned, including termination. We will be discussing ethical management at the retreat and I expect each of you to play a prominent part in Ethics Awareness Week. Keeping the public trust is our top priority. Losing it makes it nearly impossible to carry out our core functions.

The enclosed summary provides additional detail and guidance. However, the key changes are:

1) USG employees involved with vendor selection, oversight, etc. may not also be employed or otherwise compensated by a USG vendor.

2) Outside activities for USG presidents and USO employees are approved by the Chancellor and institutional employee outside activities are approved by the respective president. Institutional presidents must first provide proposed outside activity approvals to USG legal and USG compliance and ethics for employees that either report directly to the president or have the rank of vice president or higher.

3) Full-time USG employees, to include 12-month faculty with administrative duties, must take annual leave if participating in compensated outside activities consistent with USG procedures governing annual leave.

Our priorities of degree attainment, affordability and efficiency are predicated upon preserving the public’s trust and being good stewards of the resources entrusted to us. Attached as an Exhibit is a document that shows the policy revisions made, the effective date and helpful information regarding this revised policy.
